

IT COULD HAPPEN TO ANYONE LET'S BE PREPARED

An accidental overdose can happen to anyone, even when taking opioids correctly. It's important to know how to respond to someone experiencing the effects of an opioid overdose. Would you know what to do?

YOU are invited to attend a community harm reduction training event that is taking place in your community, showing you how to identify an opioid overdose and how to reverse the effects by administering the antidote, naloxone.

DATE

TIME

LOCATION

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

Anyone can attend the community harm reduction training event, especially if:

- You take or have taken opioids
- You know someone taking opioids
- You think you might encounter someone who may experience an opioid overdose or poisoning
- You are interested or curious to learn about opioid overdose preparedness

WHAT WILL BE COVERED?

- What are opioids and what do they do?
- How to identify the signs and symptoms of an opioid overdose
- How to respond to someone experiencing an opioid overdose by administering naloxone
- Where can you get naloxone
- Answer your questions on naloxone and opioids

A trained professional will be conducting the community harm reduction event and will be available to answer questions.

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN ATTENDING OR IF YOU WOULD LIKE MORE INFORMATION, PLEASE CONTACT

at